

2) ENERGY IS ILLUSION

The universe is energy, energy is movement, movement is illusion...

The universe is a system of movement; just as a light moving through dark, imagery is created.

Movement is reflection, yet few will admit their illusion for to do so would require enquiry into the illusionist.

The illusionist is the one 'on high': the antithesis of God.

Awareness of this presence is our means to see through the façade of who we think we are; our identities.

The antithesis is the sum of all - high and above the pyramidal structure of the energetic universe – always on top – everywhere at once as the smallest particle of matter.

“The whole is more than the sum of its parts.” – Aristotle.
