

THE COLLECTIVE

“Truly, I say to you, unless you turn and become like children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven. - Matthew 18:3

We are no longer children - we must learn our way back to the Kingdom.

“We are stardust

We are golden

And we've got to get ourselves

Back to the garden.” – Joni Mitchell

We must process time to a moment but to begin we must learn what a moment is; like knowing what a trade is before going to school on it.

Life is the ultimate trade; the barter of eternity/divinity for energy/time.

The universe is the secondary result of one movement repeating from the source of life: eternity.

The spinning wheel producing output just as a hairdryer or anything else for that matter. (archetypes)

We are archetypes of the same rotating movement and all that emerges are replications of the original. (Same, but different).

Build a simple generator and you will be describing the universal cycle, then consider its prototype and extrapolate that the resistance that caused the movement is also 'energy' except smaller than our capacity to discern.

This silent principal is the antithesis of God; the first resistance – that of which we are all part and parcel.

All archetypes are similar: the same structure ordered by thinking. The same instruction is within all forms but remains un-noticed because the antithesis is everywhere at once as the sum of who we think we are.

“Therefore, the earth will mourn and the heavens above will grow dark. I have spoken. I have planned, and I will not relent or turn back.” Jeremiah 4:28.

So says the Collective.
