

ANTITHESIS

ETERNITY resisted itself and turned inside out for the least time.

All as one, we did this for a reason we can't know until we have solved it.

'Inside out for the least time' is an eternal twist.

Eternity is never disconnected nevertheless the twist is energy: positive/negative.

As the twist repeats it appears a circle opening and closing.

As the 'wheel turns' the universe is generated as secondary issue.

The universe is a mass of archetypes of the original experience.

One such archetype is a hairdryer or any-thing at all - you will find at its core a rotating wheel producing output.

As the wheel turns the universe comes alive as a collective negative.

The positive has perfect vision and does not move – yet the positive/negative fly together.

Each turn of the wheel is positively enlightened as it re-enters the collective experience.

“We are our choices.” ~ Jean-Paul Sartre